

Reports of Research Studies by NCIDE

1. Learner's Preference for Modes of Counseling: A Study (2007)

This study presents the preference of the learners for the mode of counseling. This study is expected to aid in formulating suitable and innovative counseling strategies for the learners in future.

Read more

2. A Report of the Quick Feedback Survey on the Use of EduSat (2007)

This quick study was aimed at studying the student preferences in the EduSat teleconferencing to obtain immediate feedback, which would aid in planning ICT-enabled EduSat intervention.

Read more

3. Critical Issues in Distance Science Lab Practicals: A Study (2009)

This study explores the teaching and learning methods of science practicals in the lab sessions of IGNOU and provides useful insights for designing simulated environments for science experiments for the learners of IGNOU.

Read more

4. A Report of the Study on Students' Perception of On-Demand Examination in IGNOU (2011)

The IGNOU has been doing innovative experiments to make the open and distance learning more learner-friendly and useful for the varied group of distance learners to suit their needs. One of such experiments is the implementation of the scheme of On-Demand Exam. The scheme has been implemented for more than 135 courses of IGNOU through 15 Regional Centers. The present study was aimed at getting the student's perceptions about different aspects of the scheme of On-Demand Exam.

Read more

5. Perception of Innovation: A Survey of IGNOU Learners (2016)

This study investigates the perception of innovation among the learners of IGNOU. This study is expected to aid in formulating a suitable environment for fostering the innovative spirit in the learners.

Read more