

Post Graduate Diploma in Plantation Management
(PGDPM)

- To develop competent professionals in the Plantation Industry;
- To impart knowledge and skills in production, processing, marketing and finance management in the plantation sector, and
- To upgrade the technical proficiency of professional working in the Plantation Industry.

MAM-001
Introduction to Plantation Management define plantation crops and plantation industry, describe commodities from the plantations and their contribution to the National economy, discuss the extent of area under major crops, production, and domestic consumption and import-export perspectives, identify the importance of plantation management and the skill requirements for effective management, explain the role of Commodity Boards and their contribution to the development and promotion of the plantation sector, describe the principles of technology operations management with special reference to the plantation context, recognize entrepreneurial values and opportunities in the plantation situations, realize the implications of International Agreements relevant to plantation crops as well as the importance of trade agreements, and Explain the implications of globalisation and its relevance to the functioning and development of the plantation sector in the developing countries including India.

Assessment
1) LO 1) to LO 7): Assignment
2) Term-End Exam

MAM-002
Crop Production Technology

familiarize with principles and practices of crop production and management in respect of seven major plantation crops; highlight the importance and need for production of various commodities utilizing inputs of organic origin.

Assessment
1) LO 1) to LO 2): Assignment
2) Term-End Exam

MAM-003: Post harvest Management and Value Addition explain how clean and quality products could be obtained from the major plantation crops and indicate the potentials for value addition so that the Indian export scenario could be made more competitive globally.

Assessment
1) LO 1) to LO 2): Assignment
2) Term-End Exam

MAM-004
Human Resource, Marketing and Financial Management

role of HRM in a changing business environment in relation to plantation Management familiarize with trading procedure and marketing management of plantation products elaborated the significant role of finance management which has vital functions to keep the plantation business sustainable

Assessment
1) LO 1) to LO 3): Assignment
2) Term-End Exam

MAMP-001
Project Work

explain the major theoretical and philosophical approaches to research enabling you to select an appropriate research topic;
acquire proper knowledge and skills for application to practical research;
briefly discuss methods of data collection, analysis of data and interpretation of results, and develop the ability to prepare project report based on research results.

Assessment
1) LO 1) to LO 4): Assignment
2) Term-End Exam